EyeBlinkIt Terms of Service

Last updated: 30 October 2026

Agreement

By using EyeBlinkIt you agree to these terms. If you do not agree, please do not use the app.

What EyeBlinkIt is

EyeBlinkIt is a wellness tool that reminds you to take short screen breaks based on the 20-20-20 rule recommended by the American Optometric Association, and offers guided relaxation exercises for your eyes.

Not medical advice

- EyeBlinkIt is not a medical device. It does not diagnose, treat, cure or prevent any disease or condition.
- The exercises are general relaxation techniques. Stop if you feel pain, discomfort or dizziness.
- If you have eye pain, sudden vision changes, or have had recent eye surgery or injury, talk to an eye doctor before doing the exercises.

Accounts

Accounts are optional and used for backup. Keep your sign-in details secure. You can delete your account at any time in the app.

Purchases

EyeBlinkIt Pro is a one-time purchase made through Google Play or the App Store. Refunds are handled under the store's refund policy. Pro unlocks on devices signed in to the same store account.

Acceptable use

- Do not use the app for any unlawful purpose.
- Do not try to access other users' data or disrupt our services.
- Do not reverse engineer the app except where the law allows it.

Intellectual property

The app, its content and its design belong to DevEntia Tech and are protected by copyright and trademark law.

No warranty

The app is provided "as is". We work hard to make reminders reliable, but phones can delay or stop apps in the background, so we cannot guarantee that every reminder arrives on time.

Limitation of liability

To the extent the law allows, DevEntia Tech is not liable for indirect or consequential losses arising from your use of the app.

Changes and termination

We may update these terms and will change the date above when we do. You can stop using the app and delete your data at any time.
